MORE INDUSTRIALIST TROUBLE IS EXPECTED AT SAN DIEGO

Gunmen Are Enroute to Avenge Tarring of Reitman---May Wind Up With Lyhching Party---Herald Editor Must Submit Proofs.

LOS ANGELES, May 17.—The federal grand jury is meeting here today to consider the industrialists' invasion of Southern California, announced they had no jurisdiction in the San Diego matter. No action was taken in the Reitman tarring. Reitman, who will now appeal to Governor Johnson, said: "At different times in my work I have been associated with the lowest of humans, been present at many strikes and riots, but I never saw anything approaching such frenzy and hatred bestiality of San Diego business men. Because of this I consider that the San Diego section is the most alarming in the country I ever faced."

SAN DIEGO, May 17.—The industrialists out on bail are expected to be surrendered to the sheriff, the committee having notified all bondsmen to withdraw. Editor Sauer of the Herald has been notified that he must submit proofs to the vigilantes. The court room was jammed when the industrialist cases were called. Twenty will be tried on May 29 charged with conspiracy to violate the law. All attempts to get a change of venue have failed. It is reported that six industrial gunmen are coming to avenge the Reitman tarring. It has been freely declared that there will be lynchings if any of them are caught. Most of the town is in turmoil.

SEVEN JURORS SELECTED IN THE DARROW CASE

LOS ANGELES, May 17.—Seven permanent jurors, four of which are ranchers, were selected at the Darrow trial before the noon adjournment. The defense exercised three of their peremptory challenge and the prosecution two. The jurors in the box now are W. R. Williams, Monrovia, L. P. Lammer, Clearwater; A. J. Snyder, San Gabriel; E. K. Pierce, Azusa; P. C. Paul Ritter, Los Angeles; M. Cravath, Pasadena, and O. Copeck, of

MIRKOVICH ENTERS PLEA OF NOT GUILTY

Yesterday afternoon the grand jury of Nye county met at the court house pursuant to the call of Foreman Bryden, and the case of Andrija Mirkovich, charged with the murder of John Gregovich was taken up. At the conclusion the inquisitorial body returned a true bill against the Montenegrin, charging him with murder.

The prisoner was taken to the district court at 7:30 o'clock last evening and was arraigned before Judge Averill, who stated to the defendant that it was the hour set for him to enter his plea. George Thatcher was appointed attorney for the prisoner by the court and stated that he would enter a plea of "not guilty," and asked that the case be set for June 4, as it was a serious matter and desired time to look into the case and get witnesses. That was satisfactory to the court and a venire of trial jurors will be drawn from the coming session of the district court today.

ADVERTISING MEN HOLD BIG CONVENTION

NEW YORK, May 17.—Advertising men all over the East are leaving today for Dallas, Texas, where the annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America will be held next week. Special trains will take the delegates from this and other cities. A big party of Baltimore boomers will leave today and will attempt to get the next convention for the Maryland city.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES OVER THE REMAINS OF THE LATE JOHN GREGOVICH

The services held at the home yesterday were most solemn and impressive. The floral tributes were exceptionally numerous and beautiful, the music was appropriate, and the spirit of the services was calculated to comfort the hearts of the bereaved family.

The house was filled with mourners and large numbers were unable to gain admittance.

The services were conducted by Rev. George Gallup, rector of St. Mark's church. Mr. Gregovich was a member of the Greek Catholic church, which is on most friendly terms with the Episcopal church, and his family are devoted church-workers. The office of the burial of the dead was used. The Rev. H. Burnham of the Presbyterian church opened with prayer. A contingent of the local I. O. O. F. wearing regalia added impressive touch of color to the scene.

The music was in the hands of a capable quartette, Miss Addie Whitenberg, Mrs. Davis, Mr. Richards and Mr. Johns. Their sympathetic rendering of "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Peace, Perfect Peace," was a message full of consolation and hope.

Mrs. R. T. Harris also sang with exquisite feeling the well-known song "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

The following funeral sermon was preached by the Rev. George Gallup at the family residence of the late John Gregovich yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock:

We meet today under circumstances tragic indeed. Never has the spirit of our citizens surged up in such a wave of indignation; never surely has sympathy welled up so truly for a bereaved family. Good cause there is for an indignation and sorrow, for one who has been unanimously termed an "ideal citizen," one whose name was in honor not only in this community, but also in the whole state, has been ruthlessly torn away from his devoted family and wide circle of friends by the heartless cruelty of a cowardly assassin.

How natural is it for us to turn to God in our trouble! If this were the only life to be lived, then we might well complain of the injustice of human events; but there are other worlds. We are spirits, eternal, imperishable; and in our spiritual personality no earthly accident or misfortune can affect us. Today is Ascension Day, on which we commemorate the final act in the life of our Lord upon earth. Our prayer for the day bids us settle our thoughts on things above. What a beautiful festival for a funeral service.

In the midst of our tears we take one great consolation—John Gregovich lived a noble life and died a nobler death. Although men are not slow to appreciate high character in their fellows under all circumstances, they have ever been ready to place those in the foremost rank, who have died under tragic conditions in the performance of their duty. No human halo is so bright, no laurel wreath so full as that which crowns the martyr's brow. The name of our friend has been added to those on the roll of honor who was sacrificed on the altar of unselfish courage in the defense of the weak and helpless. Upon that roll are many names; among them are Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley and, above all, Jesus Christ.

From all sides we hear testimonies of a life nobly lived, of an honesty never questioned, of a generosity untrivial, of a gentle kindness which shed a ray of light on all around. Who can tell the influence of such a life? Each one of us has a physical, mental and moral presence that is equivalent to a magnet circle. This man's influence was powerfully exerted for good; he was a firm supporter of the church; he took a prominent part in public affairs; his home was one of the brightest, most earnest and most respected in our city. His family are well known in every good work in the church, in the fraternal order, in the Sunday school and day school they are esteemed and beloved.

But we must not forget that as good character is contagious, so is evil. Crime is found in tidal waves. The degenerate mind of the criminal is greatly influenced by acts of violence. The depraved mind is essentially imitative.

We are greatly mistaken in considering the individual crime apart from its influence upon men of violent passions.

There is no surer index of the character of a community than its attitude towards crimes. Lack of righteous indignation at deeds of violence betrays a depraved conscience.

The character of Christ is often misunderstood. If he prayed for his murderers, it was because they knew not what they did. Christianity stands, not only for the reclamation of the individual, but for the establishment and maintenance of a high standard of righteousness in the community; the law, as the apostle reminds us, is framed "for the punishment of evil-doers as well as the praise of those that do well."

Let our prayers ascend today to the ascended Christ that His peace, that his precious heritage, may descend upon this home and comfort and heal the wounded hearts within it; and let us also pray that those entrusted with the exercise of justice may be governed with the spirit of wisdom, that such acts of violence may receive a just reward and be eliminated from the life of our community.

This morning at 8:35 o'clock the funeral cortege started for the depot. The following members of the Odd Fellows lodge acted as pallbearers: J. W. Stewart, C. L. Hansen, Hugh Sutherland, Ralph Wardel, Tom Wardel and Frank Sellstrom.

The Odd Fellows led the line of March, followed by the Rebekahs, the Volunteer Fire department, who carried a large American flag. Citizens and ladies completed the large gathering that followed the remains to the depot where they were placed on the outgoing train for Reno, where they will be interred alongside a brother who passed away five years ago. During the time the funeral procession was passing down Main street all business houses closed their doors, showing respect to the name of the late John Gregovich.

Among those who accompanied the family on their sad journey to Reno were Judge J. A. Sanders, J. B. Holmes and Marco Androvich.

KING FREDERICK'S BODY LIES IN STATE

COPENHAGEN, May 17.—King Frederick's body arrived here this morning on the royal yacht. King Christian, Queen Alexandra and King Haakon of Norway, walked behind the hearse to the Christianberg castle chapel. Following the hearse was a black horse, riderless. The body lies in state until Thursday. Friday is the date set for the burial.

BIDS WILL BE RECEIVED IN CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO, May 17.—Advertising for bids on the $3,000,000 schedules of supplies to be furnished state institutions during the fiscal year beginning July was inaugurated today with legal notices in papers in Sacramento, San Francisco and Los Angeles, and in one paper in each county where an institution is located. The cost of this advertising is less than $1,000, a much smaller sum than that paid when each institution advertised separately, when supplies were also absurdly high.

PONTIFICAL PHYSICIANS ARE WORRIED OVER POPE PIUS X.

Strain of Work Reduces General Vitality---Has Served Nine Years as Supreme Pontiff of Catholic World.

ROME, May 17.—Genuine alarm is being felt at the Vatican for the health of Pope Pius X. Although His Holiness is not actually sick and is not suffering from any organic disease, yet no secret is made of the fact that during the past few months he has been subjected to a strain of work that has greatly reduced his general vitality and that it has left him in poor condition to withstand the terrible heat of the Roman summer, which was one of the contributing causes of the death of both of his two immediate predecessors.

Another thing which greatly worries the pontifical physicians and the immediate members of the pontifical household is the refusal of Pope Pius to take more than his ordinary rest or to permit of any diminution of his daily routine work. It is this attitude on the part of the pontiff that is in large part responsible for his present weakened condition.

Coupled with these actual conditions which create fear as to the ability of Pope Pius to survive the summer, is also the superstitious belief which the pope and countless others share implicitly. According to this belief, the life of Pope Pius has always been and always will be divided into periods of nine years. He served nine years as a parish priest, nine years as bishop of Mantua and nine years as patriarch of Venice. On August 4 of the present year he will have served nine years as supreme pontiff of the Catholic world. Should his period as pope extend beyond nine years it will, according to his own admission and belief, be the one exception in his entire life.

MITROVICH ADJUDGED INSANE BY COMMISSION

Paul Mitrovich, who was arrested by Sergeant of Police Walker yesterday on the charge of carrying concealed weapons, and was ordered to appear before the insanity commission by Justice of the Peace Atkinson, was adjudged insane by Drs. Richards and Grigsby last evening.

District Judge Averill after hearing the case and reading the report of the commission committed Mitrovich to the Nevada insane asylum at Reno, where he will probably be taken tomorrow.

Several witnesses testified as to the actions of Mitrovich. Last year Mitrovich wrote a number of letters to the crowned heads of Europe. Most of which were unanswered. This evidently angered "Mit" and he decided to take his spite out on the officials of the Tonopah postoffice. He bothered the clerks continually until a letter from the chief postal inspector was shown him stating that all of his letters had been delivered to the parties they were addressed to. Mitrovich told several different stories of his life and spoke of several wars he had gone through in Italy. He labors under the impression that people are after him for his money, and carries the gun to protect himself.

MUSICIANS WILL GIVE SEMI-ANNUAL BALL TONIGHT

Tonight is the big night. In other words, it's a big night tonight. The Musicians' semi-annual ball will be held at Miners Exchange hall, and every one knows what kind of times the Musicians hand out. They can't be beaten. Those in charge of the affair state that nothing has been left undone to make tonight's dance the greatest one for the year. The crowd will be a jolly one and all will wait to the strains of harmonious music, furnished by selected members of the Musicians' union. If you are looking for a good time you owe it to yourself to attend this function tonight.

NATIVE BORN CHINESE FILES ON HOMESTEAD.

LOS ANGELES, May 17.—Wong On, a native born Chinese, made the first homestead land entry in the local land office here. He filed on 140 acres near Hallett, Cal., in San Bernardino county. He is 24 years old and never wore a queue. He claimed exemption from the federal land laws governing the ownership of land by Orientals, on account of his American birth.

RICHESON WILL BE ELECTROCUTED NEXT WEEK

BOSTON, May 17.—Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, pastor of the Warren Avenue Baptist church, told Richeson this morning that Governor Foss has refused to intervene and that he must die.

BOSTON, May 17.—In a report submitted to Governor Foss last night the five alienists appointed by the governor to determine the mental condition of Rev. Richeson, confessed poisoner of his sweetheart, Avis Linnell, declare that the minister was, in their opinion, sane at the time the crime was committed. As Governor Foss has stated that he will not interfere with the sentence of death in case the alienists reported the minister sane at the time of the crime, the murderer probably will be electrocuted during the week beginning May 19.

ALLEN GUILTY OF MURDER IN FIRST DEGREE

WYTHEVILLE, Va., May 17.—Floyd Allen was found guilty of murder in the first degree by the jury who returned the verdict a few minutes after the case was given them. Judge Massi delivered the instructions shortly after 8 o'clock. The court room was crowded. Allen reiterated the statement made by him some time ago to his attorney at Hillsville that he would rather tell all and take his medicine from Judge Massi.

CHURCH DECRIES SPORTS OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS

LOUISVILLE, May 17.—Delegations from all Presbyteries of the North, East and West, representing 1,400,000 communicants, are here today for the opening of the annual general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States, northern branch. Among the important matters before the assembly will be that of Sunday observance, when Sabbath ball-playing, golf, playing, picture shows, aviation, movies and newspaper activities will be decried.
